

Alzheimer's Disease
International

The global voice on dementia

World Health Organization

Centre for Health Development

ADI 2017 Symposium: Building a dementia-friendly world

13.30–17.00, Wednesday 26 April

Kyoto International Conference Centre, Kyoto, Japan

Attend in person or watch online

Join us for a special half-day symposium of the 32nd ADI International Conference in April 2017

This pre-conference event will showcase dementia-friendly initiatives from around the globe and provides an opportunity to collaborate, debate and network with others to build a dementia-friendly world.

Attendance is free to online participants and delegates registered to attend the 32nd ADI International Conference.

People involved in designing, implementing and monitoring dementia-friendly and awareness raising initiatives are particularly encouraged to attend. It will also be of interest to clinicians, care professionals, researchers, scientists, government representatives, civil society, WHO, media, people with dementia and their supporters.

For the symposium programme and to register go to:

adi2017symposium.eventbrite.co.uk

For the event time in your country, go to: tinyurl.com/dementiafriendlyworld

The symposium is co-hosted by Alzheimer's Society (UK) and WHO Kobe Centre working in partnership with Alzheimer's Disease International (ADI).

32nd International Conference of Alzheimer's Disease International

26 - 29 April 2017 Kyoto, Japan
Kyoto International Conference Centre

www.adi2017.org

Dementia: Together towards a new era

Alzheimer's Disease International

The global voice on dementia

World Health Organization

Centre for Health Development

Pre-conference Symposium: Building a Dementia-Friendly World 13.30–17.00, Wednesday 26 April 2017

32nd International Conference of Alzheimer's Disease International Kyoto International Conference Centre, Kyoto, Japan

Join us for a special half-day symposium of the 32nd ADI International Conference in April 2017. This pre-conference event will showcase dementia-friendly initiatives from around the globe and provides an opportunity to collaborate, debate and network with others to build a dementia-friendly world.

Attendance is free to delegates registered to attend the 32nd ADI International Conference.

To register, visit: adi2017symposium.eventbrite.co.uk

Session	Speaker
13.15–13.30
Registration
13.30–13.50
Welcome & Introduction	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Alex Ross (WHO/WKC) ■ Jeremy Hughes (Alzheimer's Society) ■ Special messages
13.50–15.00
Dementia-friendly programmes	Chaired by Jeremy Hughes Showcasing dementia-friendly programmes from around the world: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Netherlands (Iris Spanjers – Alzheimer Nederland's Dementia Friendly Initiative) ■ Australia (Dennis Frost – Dementia Friendly Kiama project) ■ Indonesia (Amalia Fonk – Alzheimer's Indonesia's 'Sahabat Demensia') ■ Costa Rica (Norbel Roman – Costa Rica's Dementia Friendly Community projects) ■ Japan (Dr Kazuyuki Hirao – Uji Dementia Friendly Community)
15.00–15.20
Break	Refreshments served
15.20 –16.10
Developing a dementia-friendly toolkit/framework	Chaired by Jeremy Hughes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ 'What Works and Why' report findings (Alzheimer's Society) ■ Framework for developing a WHO toolkit on dementia-friendly communities (Dr Katrin Seeher – WHO/NMH/MSD) ■ Overview of an evaluation framework and approach for dementia-friendly initiatives (Dr Megumi Rosenberg – WHO/WKC) ■ 'If I knew then what I know now' – feedback and top tips from participants who have developed dementia-friendly initiatives
16.10–16.55
Way Forward	Chaired by Alex Ross We welcome questions or comments from participants for an interactive discussion with our panel members on the way forward: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Gina Shaw (UK) ■ Tarun Dua (WHO) ■ Jeremy Hughes (Alzheimer's Society) ■ Dr Ken Horibe (NCGG, Japan)
16:55–17:00
Conclusion	